

Human Services (HS)

Communications Update

C.L. Lopez, Communications Officer

It has been a headline making time for HS Communications with everything from local media coverage to national media coverage from Good Morning America and People Magazine. It is wonderful to see the work of our Human Services departments recognized. The work being done each day truly transforms lives and we look forward to continuing to work toward positive media coverage about the services we provide and the lives we help change.

Stay tuned for additional media coverage in newspapers and on radio and television of our Human Services departments. We look forward to hearing about your headline making programs.

